

ABSTRACT

Compositions and methods for use in generating and selecting genetically modified cells are provided. The compositions include selectable markers and selection systems based thereon. Also provided

5 are methods for the introduction and expression of heterologous nucleic acids in host animals that use the compositions and methods for generating and selecting genetically modified cells.